Watch our video

Optimizing available storage space and maximizing order-picking efficiency is probably the biggest challenge in warehouses, especially when it concerns small or medium-sized products with medium or low rotation (B & C-items).

For this type of products Storeganizer offers an unmatched high-density warehouse storage solution that overcomes the inefficiencies and low-density of traditional racking and shelving.

Storeganizer provides a storage and manual picking solution for warehouses with incomparably high storage density and significant practical, organizational, and economic advantages.

THE HIGH-DENSITY WAREHOUSE STORAGE SOLUTION

Storeganizer is a high-density storage system of sliding columns divided into compartments (pockets) made of durable, sustainable material.

Goods are stored in compartments (pockets) of different size (standard type or custom). Several compartments form columns that can be mounted up to four rows deep. The rows and columns in the back are easily accessible by simply moving the columns in front. All SKU's are easily and quickly accessible and are stored together on the smallest possible footprint.

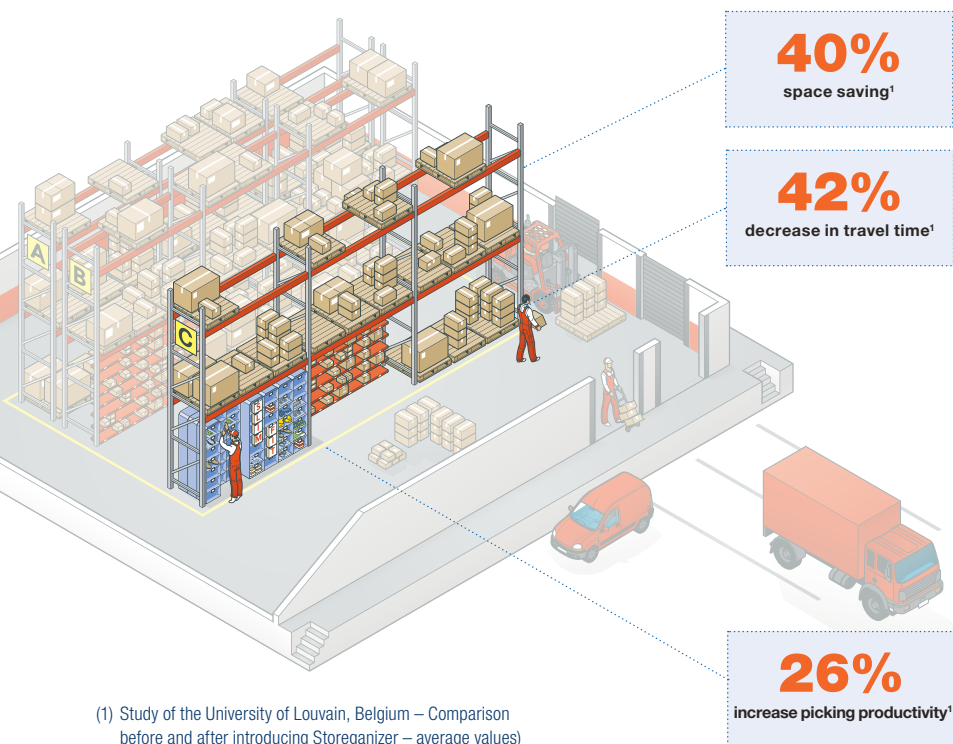

Based on most common size racks, but applicable to other size racks.
