The right decision makers and real projects

Our experience from previous years shows that Gulfood Manufacturing attracts the right decision makers from all over the region – and they bring real projects.

Currently the MENA region including Southeast Asian countries experience rapid development. Economic growth is a characteristic as well as the demographic profile of the region is changing. The region continues to witness an increasing population surge, especially among its consumer hungry middle classes. The food supply industry suffers to match greater demand for food, increasing home production and focusing on increased food safety. MENA food demand is expected to increase by US$ 1 trillion by 2030.
