1. Scope

This Contract sets out the part of the terms and conditions for the delivery of Macroeconomic forecasts (hereinafter the Solution) by the Supplier to the Customer.

In the event of any discrepancy between the Contract and the annexes, the Contract will prevail. In the event of any discrepancy between the appendices, an appendix with a lower number will prevail over an appendix with a higher number. If the final payment date is not a banking day, the payment date is deferred to the next banking day.

In the event of late payment, the Supplier is entitled to charge interest under the provisions of the Danish Interest.

6. Intellectual Property Rights

The Customer holds the right of use of the data provided. The Customer shall have the right to use data provided for tasks lying within the Customer's activities, including (without limitation) for statistical and summary calculations.

The Customer shall have the right freely to process the data and the right to use the results of such processing (aggregated data). The Customer shall have the right to store data provided in its own databases, and this right shall not expire.

The Customer may transfer its right of use to a third party to the extent that such third party assists the Customer in relation to the Customer's activities.

If a third party holds any rights to the Solution, e.g the offered macroeconomic forecasts or model, the Supplier guarantees that such rights are fully clarified to ensure that the Customer will have the rights as set out in this provision. The Supplier must indemnify the Customer for any claims arising as a result of third-party rights not being fully clarified as prescribed in this provision.

Furthermore, in the event of infringement of third-party rights, the Supplier must for its own account and subject to agreement with that third party, or by changing or replacing material, ensure that the Customer is given the rights set out in this provision.

The legal position of the Customer pursuant to this provision will not change regardless of whether – or how – the Contract is terminated.

In connection with the performance of its services, the Supplier may, without being required to inform the Customer thereof, be an adviser or provide services to other customers whose interests may conflict with those of the Customer, always provided that no conflict of interests arise on the part of the Supplier in that context with respect to the services to be provided to the Customer.

The Supplier must not use employees if reasonable doubts may be raised as to their ability to fully perform the service under this Contract. The same requirement applies to any subcontractors of the Supplier and their employees.

Under this Contract, the Supplier must immediately notify the Customer of any matter which may give rise to doubts as to the Supplier's or any subcontractors' independence.

12. The Supplier's breach of contract

The general rules of Danish law on breach apply, including the general rules on delayed delivery and non-delivery.

The Supplier's services will always be deemed to be defective if the service does not comply with this Contract and its appendices, or if the service is not what the Customer could reasonably expect.

At the Customer's request, the Supplier must as soon as possible remedy any defects of which notice has been given. If remedial action is not possible, or if the Supplier has made repeated unsuccessful attempts to remedy a defect, the Customer may instead claim a proportionate reduction of the payment to the Supplier. The proportionate reduction will be fixed taking into consideration the scope and the nature of the defect but will not exceed the payment for the supply.
